- a. The following questions were asked. Answers are indicated next to each question

Q: I don't know of a single Major Manufacturer that makes a suit that hits all of these demands. I'm interested to know where they based these needs off of, and what manufacturer has this? There is nothing that meets every demand on the market that I know of.

A: The needs are based on the experiences that our divers have had with public safety diving and using dry suits. Please feel free to submit your best bid noting anything that might not be included.
